SIKESTON STANDARD

Southeast Missouri's Leading Semi-Weekly

VOLUME 22 — SIKESTON, SCOTT COUNTY, MISSOURI TUESDAY MORNING, MAY 15, 1934 — NUMBER 65

THE EDITOR SAYS—

Today is the day voters are to say whether or not they will shoulder a ten million dollar bond issue on the State for the penal and eleemosynary institutions. It is up to you.

Yes, sir, the interest The Standard takes in a lot of things is political. In local affairs, until recently, politics played a small part in our life, but for several years past the city has supposed to have had a Democratic Mayor who kept Republicans in three out of four paying appointments and that condition is what caused the change in the Mayor's office. The Republicans of the city combined with the bolter and tied the hands of the new Mayor in a way, and when we say, in a way, that is what we mean, as we are told two men elected as Democrats are not standing with the Mayor.

We had the pleasure of visiting the flower garden of Mrs. G. A. Dempster Monday forenoon and certainly enjoyed the blooming roses, the flowing fountain, the gold fish and Eden-like surroundings. The prettiest back yard in Sikeston.

The recent paragraph carried in The Standard about the waterworks being a losing proposition, has been challenged by one of the Councilmen. Well, all we know is what we learned from a couple of the Board of Public Works who have but recently had the waterworks placed under their supervision. They said it was a losing proposition for the reason no sinking fund, no interest fund, no depreciation fund had been set aside, but every cent collected was used to pay help on the streets and if any was left it went into the general revenue fund. Anyway, we have as pure drinking water as any city and that is a lot. Just how the Board of Public Works is going to operate the system to show that it pays, remains to be seen.

Fires in furnaces have been allowed to die and the ice box steps in to take the money. Now is the time to have the furnace examined and placed in condition for the next season. Don't wait until the last minute and blame the furnace man for not having the parts in stock.

A simple remedy for those suffering from corns or callouses is fried meat grease or lard into which is mixed common table soda to make a thick paste. Apply to affected part and bind on with a rag or surgical dressing. This will soften the corn or callousedt part and permit it to be removed. This is a never failing remedy and is recommended by Mack Nichols. This is for foot ailments, tho' it might work just as thoroughly for those whose ailments are caused from too much sitting.

We hate to print it, but truth will out. Last week The Sikeston Standard carried 2361 inches of paid advertising while Sikeston's second newspaper carried 579 inches. Those who have anything to sell wish it placed before the reading public in a paper that is read.

This is to inform the voting public that The Standard is not fighting the ten million dollar bond issue, but has nothing to say for it. Columns of free dope has been sent us telling of the awful conditions existing at the penitentiary and we didn't care a rap how bad the conditions were as the criminals made their own bed. It is regrettable the way things are at the tubercular hospital and the asylums, but they have been that way for twenty years and the Legislatures have refused aid. If the criminal institutions were not coupled with the asylums, we would favor the bond issue. We are not going to vote for it and you can do as you please about it.

Suspected Slayer of Green Killed In Attempted Escape

Doyne Vinyard, 21 years old, suspected of participating in the slaying March 28 of Clarence Green, night marshal at Campbell, was shot and killed by St. Louis Police Saturday as he attempted to flee from his mother's home in St. Louis late Saturday afternoon.

He finally fell dead in an alley with four bullet wounds in his body. What was supposed to have been the fatal charge entered above his right hip and came out on the left side. He had also been shot in the right shoulder and in both feet.

Green was killed late in the night as he pursued three men who earlier had run from a filling station near the edge of Campbell and into a wooded section nearby. When he came upon them unexpectedly, one of them fired at him before he could draw his gun. He died almost instantly with four charges in his body.

Ray Young, 26 years old, was arrested two days later at his home in Rector, Ark., and accused of complicity in the crime. In his possession were found numerous articles stolen from a store in Advance a few days previously. Fred Adams, also said to have been implicated, was caught in Paragould, Ark., where he and Vinyard were seen in a freight car. The latter escaped by disappearing in a thicket which bordered the railroad track and went into hiding near Rector, it is supposed.

Vinyard was thought to have been involved chiefly because his automobile, also containing goods from the Advance store was found abandoned in Campbell after the shooting. St. Louis police had been watching for him at his mother's home.

He arrived there at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon. An hour later officers had surrounded the house. Two went inside. When one of them saw Vinyard trying to hide in the front room closet, Vinyard ran to a window and leaped out on the roof of the house porch.

Then began a wild and futile attempt to escape. Vinyard jumped from one roof to another, one time sinking through rusted metal, then extricating himself, while an officer followed him, firing his revolver. At last Vinyard leaped from a roof to the alley below. After four or five steps he colapsed.

His body was removed to the City Hospital. His mother, Mrs. Lillian Vinyard, his sister, Janice Vinyard, and a brother, Jno. Vinyard, all of whom were at home at the time of the shooting were taken to a police station for questioning. Because she was near collapse, however, the mother was sent to the City Hospital.

By his picture, Vinyard was tentatively identified as one of the robbers who held up the First National Bank of Kennett November 20 of last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Mitchell of Sikeston, Mont Proffitt of Chaffee, and Mrs. John Spalding and Mrs. Lillian Wade, both of Benton, left Friday noon for Oklahoma City, Okla., where Mrs. Mitchell's sister, Mrs. John Ruckman, died Thursday evening.

Mrs. Ruckman, formerly Genevieve Proffitt, lived in Chaffee at one time and was well-known in Scott County. Mr. Proffitt is her brother, and Mrs. Spalding and Mrs. Wade are aunts.

The five will probably return here today.

AMERICANS ARE DRINKING MORE LIQUOR, LESS BEER

Federal officials think that possibly citizens of the United States are now drinking more hard liquor and less beer than they did before the prohibition amendment was adopted.

Eighteen yeras ago, 80,720,000 gallons of whisky, gin, rum and brandy were consumed in this country. In 1917, the following year, the total reached 96,250,000 gallons.

Taxes for liquor production show people are drinking United States wares at the rate of 85,000,000 gallons annually. In addition to this, 3,640,000 gallons of liquor were imported during the first quarter of 1934.

If these rates continued during the year, the total consumption would reach more than 100,000,000, and liquor from bootleggers, not included in estimates, would push it still higher.

Federal officials, however, believe that some of the liquor purchased will be stored for aging and that the high consumption of the early repeal months will not last.

The government received $138,-57,000 in beer production taxes during one year. Since most of the taxes were $5 a barrel, it is tho't that about 27,709,500 barrels were consumed. The 1917 beer consumption was 60,790,000 barrels.

Tax rates have increased greatly since pre-prohibition days as shown in the following figures: 1917 liquor production tax, $1.10 a gallon, 1934, $2; 1917 beer production tax, $1.50 a barrell, 1934, $5.

Spring Fashions For Feminine Bicyclists

Miss Genevieve Kenntz — Miss Gene McGlynn — Miss Sally Gardiner

Society has adopted costumes both simple and sensible for the popular and healthful sport of bicycle riding. These, worn by the Misses Sally Gardiner, daughter of Mrs. Henry Gardiner of Princeton, N. J. Genevieve Kenntz, spending the winter at the Golf and Tennis Club, Palm Beach, Fla., and Gene McGlynn, with Metro Pictures, Hollywood, show the bicycle fashion trends for spring, all with costumes which permit freedom of action. Shorts seem to be the choice of the majority, including all male observers.

Distinguished Soldier to Relate Adventures

Major Thomas A. Ruddell, who during the World War distinguised himself while he was having unusual experiences, will be here Wednesday to speak at a regular weekly luncheon meeting of members of the Lions Club.

While he was a major in the Italian Foreign Legion, he fought against Arabs of northern Africa, was captured, dined with a sheik, and studied social and economic conditions of the people whom he encountered. All this and much more he will relate when he talks here on "Africa Speaks".

Among his four medals for distinguished war service are the Silver Valor Medal of Africa and the Croix de Guerre. He was further honored by the king of Italy, who knighted him.

At the end of the war, Major Ruddell returned to this country. He is now division sales manager in St. Louis for the Spencer Corset Company of New Haven, Conn., and heads a force of 200 persons. In three years he has tripled his concern's business by introducing novel and outstanding sales methods.

He is an active worker in St. Louis civic organizations and comes here as a member of the speakers' bureau of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

The fact that Major Ruddell has been a dynamic personality, not only as a soldier but as a business man, indicates that he will present something worth while for all Sikeston merchants and executives, and for that reason Lions Club members urge every interested person to attend their luncheon meeting.

District Woman's Club Convention to Be Here

Members of the Woman's Club who were appointed to committees by Mrs. L. R. Burns, the president, at a meeting last Tuesday, will arrange details for a day and a half convention of the ninth district of Woman's Clubs which will be held here during the latter part of October.

Since the Sikeston Club members will adjourn until October 2 after their next meeting on May 22, Mrs. Burns named women to committees so they may plan their work throughout the summer and early fall, considering registration, entertainment, programs, transportation, decorations, tickets and other matters.

About 150 members of the 75 Woman's Clubs of the ninth district and 25 State officers are expected to attend the October convention.

Five Released After Charges Are Dropped

Five members of a medicine show who were arrested and held in Caruthersville on charges of murdering Russell Evans, whose body was found floating in the Missisippi river Monday, have been released.

The charges have been dismissed because officers were unable to find sufficient evidence to institute a trial. Investigation of the case will probably be discontinued, and while some believe that Evans committed suicide, others still think he was killed.

It is said that last Monday, only a few hours before Evans' body was found, two men stopped at the home of a prominent Caruthersville woman, who lives near the river, and asked her if anyone had found a "floater" recently. These men have not geen seen again for questioning.

The five accused persons, all members of the Zarlington troupe, which has for some time been exhibiting in Southeast Missouri with a medicine show, emphatically denied charges of killing Evans. They are Mrs. Bonnie Evans, his widow; Teny and Mary, his daughters; Howard, his son, and Thelma, Howard's wife.

BLUFF SENIORS GIVE BENEFIT FOR GARNER

Members of the senior class of the Poplar Bluff high school combined to help their classmate, Clyde Garner, Monday night, when they charged admission to their annual senior class day program held at the high school auditorium.

Proceeds from the entertainment, a musical revue, were given to Garner to help pay for hospital and operation costs contracted after he was struck by a discus at the Southeast Missouri track and field meet in Cape Girardeau.

Garner, whose condition was for a time very serious, slowly recovered and was taken to his home in Poplar Bluff a few days ago.

Ordinarily, there is no admission charge for the seniors' program. Garner's classmates, however, thought a performance in his honor would be commendable, especially since he has been unable to participate in any of the school's closing activities.

JEFFERSON UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

The New Jefferson Hotel of Sikeston is now under the management of Mrs. Maydeon Brown of Los Angeles, Calif., who is redecorating and furnishing it and preparing to open the cafe soon.

Campbell Turns Down Liquor Sale by Drink

Campbell residents last week decided not to buy liquor by the drink. The total count indicated 348 opposed the proposition and only 72 favored it.

Clergymen of Campbell actively participated in the election, transporting numerous persons to the polls. The city will be at least technically dry for four years.

Portageville citizens, however, voted May 1 to sell liquor by the drink for the first time in twenty-two years. Two hundred and eighty-two men and women cast their ballots for sale, while 189 expressed disapproval. The wets won by a majority of 93.

Residents of New Madrid and Malden will vote soon on the same question, the former on May 22, the latter, June 5. In both towns petitions bearing the names of a designated percentage of qualified ovters and requesting such an election were presented to members of the city councils who, in turn, arranged for special ballotings.

The proposal to sell liquor by the drink has been settled now in numerous Southeast Missouri towns. It has been accepted in Fornfelt, Caruthersville and Steele and rejected in Poplar Bluff.

The ceremony was performed under an improvised altar of rosebuds and rose foliage by the Rev. E. D. Owen, pastor of a Cape Girardeau Baptist church and a very close friend of the bride's family. Throughout the afternoon Miss Grace Estes played, and before the service Miss Neva Mae Taylor sang "I Love You Truly".

Decorations were in pink and white with pink and white peonies and roses and mock orange blossoms placed over the house.

The bride wore a powder blue chiffon dress and carried a corsage of pink rosebuds. Miss Audrey Reiss, her sister and only attendant, was dressed in dusty pink chiffon and had a corsage of blue sweet peas. Mr. Standley was attended by George Hertle of St. Louis.

After the ceremony the bridal party sat at a large table for luncheon. Aelatives and a few close friends were placed at five card tables.

Mr. and Mrs. Standley left late Sunday afternoon for Sappington, where Mr. Standley will complete the term at the school where he teaches. Next Sunday afternoon the couple wlil return to Cape Girardeau for the graduation of Mrs. Standley from the Southeast Missouri State Teachers' College. Then they will come here for the summer.

The following persons were here from out-of-town for the wedding: Mrs. T. L. Standley, Ironton; Mrs. E. F. Mr. Wardwell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Wardwell of Chittenden, is a graduate of the University of Vermont. He is employed as officer in the United States Coast & Geodetic Survey, and now heads a surveying party of about forty men, who are working near Springfield, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. Wardwell left here Sunday for Springfield and Ft. Smith, Ark., where they will visit relatives of Mr. Wardwell. Soon they will return to Springfield, but in about three weeks, they will both leave to spend the summer in and near Colorado, where Mr. Wardwell will be in charge of another surveying party.

Mrs. Anna Waldendorp, of Kalamazoo, Mich., arrived last Thursday night for a visit here with her parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Clayton, and Mrs. Robert Law.

FIVE MORE ENTERED IN BEAUTY CONTEST

Five more young women have been selected by Sikeston firms to represent them in the beauty contest to be held at the Malone Theatre Wednesday evening. They are Slvia Goldstein, Graber's; Helen Virginia Keith, Tiny Beauty Salon; Irene Miller, The People's Store; Miss Neva Mae Taylor, McKnight-Keaton Grocery Company, and Margaret Fisher, The Sikeston Herald. Several others may possibly be selected before the contest.

The winner of this competition to be selected by three disinterested out-of-town judges on the basis of beauty alone, will go May 26 to Poplar Bluff, where she will compete with representatives from other district towns for the title of Miss Southeast Missouri.

The young woman who defeats all her competitors will be given a free week's visit to the Century of Progress Exposition, which will open in Chicago May 26. She will also be invited to enter a nation-wide contest held annually at Atlantic City, N. J., for the purpose of selecting Miss America.

Last year's winner of that award was given a specially built Buick sport roadster, a two weeks' trip to Bermuda, a diamond wrist watch, two thousand dollars in cash and a chance for a movie tryout.

Harriet June Peck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Peck, will represent Malden in the Ozark Mardi Gras pageant of the queens. At Caruthersville and Kennett young women have also been chosen.

Missouri Allotment Increased

By an amendment to the Bankhead bill, Missouri has been allotted 50,000 more blaes of cotton for the 1934 crop. Of the present total allotment, 200,000 bales, farmers of Pemiscot County will be allowed to produce the largest single amount, 79,000 bales, or 39.85 per cent.

BOND ISSUE, ALDERMAN TO BE VOTED ON TODAY

Today people all over the State will go to the polls to decide whether as a whole they will support the proposed $10,000,000 bond issue for the repair of Missouri's penal and eleemosynary institutions.

A vigorous campaign has been made for this proposition by State and civic leaders. The lamentable conditions of most of the eleemosynary institutions, notably those at St. Joseph, Mt. Vernon, Fulton and Nevada, are generally known. It is also known that the State will be given a federal PWA grant of $3,400,000 if this issue is passed and that the work of improving buildings which house Missouri's mentally deficient, tubercular sufferers, and prisoners will provide employment for numerous people.

Some ciitzens, however, object to the inclusion in the proposed bond issue of provisions for the penitentiary because they feel that men who commit crimes have no right to expect too comfortable quarters after they are caught, convicted and sentenced. It is thought by some, too, that altho' State leaders have emphatically stated politics will not have a part in the execution of the work, should the issue be approved, the wishes of Kansas City's Democratic leader will be granted, his supporters employed, and his products used.

Residents of the third ward in Sikeston will also cast ballots today for an alderman to fill the place left vacant by Dr. G. W. Presnell when he was elected mayor last month. The only man who has announced for this position is Barney Forrester.

By order of the Scott County Court, the number of precincts in Sikeston for this election have been reduced from four to two. Persons living on the south side of the city will vote at the J. Wm. Foley Motor Co.; those on the north, at the City Hall.

BANTON CHOOSES SALE AS ASSISTANT ATTY.

Harry Blanton today announces the appointment of Irwin Sale of St. Louis, as assistant United States Attorney. He succeeds Bryan Purteet, who resigned several weeks ago.

He has served as Past Master of his Masonic lodge and as Worthy Patron of the Eastern Star. He has been the Democratic nominee for congress in one of the St. Louis districts and was his party's choice for judge of the Court of Criminal Correction in 1928.

He has been active in party councils for years, was an enthusiastic supporter of Senator Bennet Champ Clark during the last campaign, and has been a personal friend of District Attorney Blanton for numerous years.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Patterson and children, Dimple and Billy, and Mrs. Dean Marshall and daughter, Dorothy, spent Sunday with Mrs. Patterson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Darter, near Tanner.

A big Democratic rally is to be held at Ozark, Christian County, Friday of this week, to get up pep for the Fall election. It is a long way from Sikeston to Ozark, but they are hoping some Democrats from here will be there.

James F. Fulbright of Doniphan will not be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress, according to his son, Carleton Fulbright, who was in the city recently. There are many who believe Mr. Fulbright would have been a strong candidate in spite of the fact that the remodelling of the district cut out several counties in his part of the district in which he was particularly strong. Mr. Fulbright was the last congressman from the old Fourthteenth district and perhaps had a larger general following in all counties of the new district than any other man whose name has been mentioned for the nomination. With Mr. Fulbright out of the race, it is believed that Zimmerman's candidacy will be strengthened in this county.

Applying Apricots

OF COURSE you have eaten apricots all by themselves and found them delicious. But what would you say if someone asked you suddenly what other ways there are to serve them? In order to forestall the possibility of your having to answer "I don't know" to such a question, here are a couple of dishes in which canned apricots combine to the Queen's taste. The first is

Fried Ham with Apricots*: Fry ham in the usual way. Remove to a hot platter. Drain a can of apricots well, dip the fruit in flour, and saute a nice brown in the ham fat. Arrange around the ham. Make a sauce by caramelizing two tablespoons sugar, adding two-thirds cup syrup from the canned apricots and cooking till smooth. Add three tablespoons orange juice, and then two teaspoons flour smoothed in two tablespoons cold water. Cook till slightly thick, and serve with the ham and apricots.

For a Fine Dessert

Butterscotch Rice Ring Filled with Apricots*: Boil one-half cup rice three minutes in salted water, drain and add to two cups scalded milk. Cover and cook in double boiler until almost tender. Melt together one tablespoon butter and two-thirds cup brown sugar until thick, add to rice and continue cooking until the rice is very tender and the mixture thick. MISSOURI HISTORY

Floyd C. Shoemaker

The death of Peter H. Burnett at San Francisco on May 17, 1895, thirty-nine years ago this week, closed the remarkable career of one of the foremost of those Missourians who won for Missouri the title of "Mother of the West". Burnett became the first State governor of California, and served on the supreme court of both that State and Oregon territory. But it was in Missouri, on the rigorous frontiers of the Boone's Lick and the Platte Purchase countries, that he received his early training.

Burnett was born at Nashville, Tennessee, on November 15, 1807, coming with his parents to Howard county, Missouri, ten years later. The family had a farm near Franklin, and for a while they lived in the town. Illness in the river bottom, however, drove the family westward in 1882, to settle in Clay County. After returning to Tennessee in 1826, where he remained for six years, meanwhile being married working in a hotel, and unsuccessfully embarking in the mercantile business, Burnett once again came to Missouri, settling at Liberty.

Already Burnett had been studying law, but his entrance into the profession was delayed for some years. He was in the mercantile business at Liberty, and with his brother, had a store at Barry and also operated a saw mill and a distillery. To these enterprises was added the work of editing a weekly newspaper, The Far West. He was also interested in public questions, and in 1835 was on a committee that drew up a memorial to Congress in favor of extending the boundary of northwest Missouri to the Missouri river. However, finding himself gradually sinking deeper into debt, Burnett in 1839 decided to abandon his other enterprises to try law.

As a member of the militia, Burnett had seen active service in the Mormon troubles. Later he was employed with Amos Rees and A. W. Doniphan as counsel for the Mormon leaders who were confined in the jail at Liberty. During the winter of 1839-40, William T. Wood, the district attorney, decided to resign and he recommended Burnett for the place, to which he was appointed. Shortly after, when the district was divided D. R. Atchison became judge of the circuit including Clinton, Andrew, Buchanan, Holt and Platte counties, and Burnett was made the prosecuting attorney, which office he held until he resigned in 1843.

Perhaps one of the most far-reaching events in Burnett's life occurred about this time, though in his Recollections and Opinions of an Old Pioneer, he fails to mention it. A law of the General Assembly approved February 8, 1839, named Burnett as one of five men to select a site for the University of Missouri. The commissioners met at Jefferson City on June 24, opened the bids, and awarded the site to Boone county. Burnett thus had a part in locating the oldest State University west of the Mississippi River.

In later years, Burnett recalled that his circuit on the western frontier of Missouri had more criminal business than any other in the State outside of St. Louis. The unsettled condition of the new Platte country had attracted many lawless characters, and packed juries and intimidations were common. Yet Burnett handled his crowded dockets with speed and without fear, and at the same time acquired extensive legal knowledge through practical experience.

Until 1840, the Burnett family lived at Liberty, but in that year they moved to Platte City, and in the fall of 1842 to Weston. Despairing of ever earning enough to pay his debts in Missouri, and influenced by his wife's ill health, Burnett and his family left for Oregon on May 22, 1843, with a party of nearly 900 emigrants, of which he was captain for a time.

In Oregon, Burnett located near the mouth of the Williamette and, later, on a farm near the site of Hillsboro. He served on a pioneer legislative committee, on the supreme court, and was elected to the territorial legislature in 1848. Late in that year he led a company of 150 men to the California gold mines. In California, Burnett became attorney and general agent of John A. Sutter, on whose land gold was discovered, but left Sutter the next year, and became judge of the superior tribunal of California. On November 13, 1849, Burnett was overwhelmingly elected governor of the State, but he resigned early in 1851. In 1857 and 1858 he served on the supreme court. Burnett was able to pay his debts in Missouri during the early years he spent in California, and in later years he became president of the Pacific Bank in San Francisco, retiring in 1880. He was the author of four books.

Firestone LEADERSHIP

"The Ultimate Test of Leadership is Performance"

FIRESTONE has maintained its leadership in tire development by producing a new tire for 1934 with a wider tread, flatter contour, deeper non-skid, greater thickness, and more and tougher rubber, which gives greater non-skid safety, more traction, greater blowout protection, and more than 50% longer non-skid mileage.

These achievements are made practical by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping, providing greater adhesion between the plies of the high stretch cords and between the Gum-Dipped body of the tire and the tough, massive non-skid tread. It also provides greater strength, longer flexing life, and greater protection against blowouts.

Gum-Dipping made it possible for Firestone to design, develop and put on the market the first successful balloon tire in 1923. This tire was the pattern used by all others and completely revolutionized the tire industry and set new standards for the automobile industry.

Firestone also developed the first all-rubber non-skid tire, and has always been first to give motorists the benefits of new discoveries in non-skid design, providing more traction and greater non-skid safety.

For fourteen years leading race drivers have driven to victory on Firestone tires, built with Gum-Dipped high stretch cords. They have trusted their lives to Firestone Leadership — as they know that the patented Firestone construction features provide them with greater safety—longer mileage—and greater blowout protection.

WHY do you suppose Chevrolet keeps repeating, in all of its advertising, "Drive it only 5 miles"? Here's the reason: Chevrolet engineers have tried out all the various makes of cars in today's low-price field. And they have proved, to their complete satisfaction, the same things that hundreds of thousands of Chevrolet owners are proving in their daily driving: How much more smoothly a car travels with genuine, fully-enclosed Knee-Action. How much more comfortably it handles, with shock-proof steering. How much more restfully you ride, in a Fisher Body car. How much more safely you drive, with cable-controlled brakes. And how much finer performance and better economy are secured from an overhead-valve Six! In other words, Chevrolet engineers know for sure that the Chevrolet ride simply can't be matched by any other in the low-price field. They know it — thousands of owners know it — and now we want you to know it too, before you make your final choice of a low-priced car.

Washington Comment

Some difference of opinion appears to have arisen regarding the federal control of industry, typified by the Blue Eagle. Upon the one hand, the government promises a campaign, within the next month or two, to make the well-known bird more popular and effective than heretofore. Upon the other hand, the consensus of opinion as expressed at a dinner held by the United States Chamber of Commerce, seems to be to the effect that while the old-time, cut-throat methods of competition should go, industry perhaps should be given a less shackled hand in the management of its own affairs. The Blue Eagle movement arose out of emergency, and when the emergency has passed, the control which conditions made necessary, undoubtedly will cease or be modified, with perfect concord among all parties concerned. The real issue at present involved seems to be whether or not the time for a litlte wing-clipping has arrived. Presumably, not even the strongest advocates of government control would care to state that regulation of business to the existing degree must be regarded as a permanent institution.

The plans of Japan to assume management in the affairs of the East, and in China in particular, have encountered a stumbling block, as might have been expected, and in the instance under consideration, the obstruction was laid by the State Department of the United States. The views of the Department of State cannot be made more clear than by quoting them. "No nation can, without the assent of the other nations concerned, rightfully endeavor to make conclusive its will in situations where there are involved the rights, the obligations and the legitimate interests of other sovereign States". It is not likely that Japan will lay aside her ambitions to be the arbiter of Asiatic affairs in view of the American note, but that document should be understood to mean that if Japan has any idea that she can go it alone in Chinese affairs, she will have a rough and rugged road to travel. A Russian statesman once sougnt to brush aside objections to the policy of his country by stating that Russia was not a nation but a world. Napoleon's hopes are a well-remembered piece of history. Within the memory of young men, Germany bit off more than she could chew. Japan, in the words of Patrick Henry, "may profit by their example".

Mr. Dillinger is said to be back in the big bad city of Chicago, gun in hand. If the report is true, one may recall a few lines from Robert Louis Stevenson's epitaph: "Home is the sailor, home from the sea, and the shepherd home from the shore". Dillinger may need an epitaph shortly, and it will be well to keep Mr. Stevenson's words in mind.

In days about thirty years gone, Carrie Nation handled bar rooms alone, axe in hand. A Balitimore woman has resorted to similar methods. Puns are said to be in bad taste, but it is hard to resist the temptation to state that Mrs. Nation said that what the drink problem needed was a little "hatchetation". Whether hatchetation is a method that has been outgrown, remains to be seen.

It is not so long that one-half of one per cent was a familiar phrase. Then four per cent by volume came along. Ten per cent, however, is going a little too strong, not in connection with drinks this time, but as a raise in the income tax, the House having voted down the boost, to the tune of 282 to 77. The Senate is entitled to further consideration of the matter before the measure goes to Mr. Roosevelt, but as things now stand, the income tax increase has been given a distinctly-visible black eye. Whether or not the proposed raise was necessary, no one can state with any degree of certainty that he is right, but one thing is absolutely sure: It was not popular with the tax paying masses.

The papers report that May Day passed quietly in Paris, peace and good order being marred only by four thousand Communists, who shot at the police from behind barricades, a statement that leads one to speculate as to what a genuine Paris disorder must be like.

Cheap Seed May Be Costly

Farmers who are offered unusually low-priced seed should take the precaution of investigating the source and the quality of the seed before testing, say the seed specialists of the U. S. Seed Testing Laboratory operated at Columbia in connection with the Missouri Agricultural Experiment Station. A sample of the seed under consideration may be submitted to the laboratory for a free test on purity and germination. In many instances, also, the specialists can also tell whether or not the seed is of the variety advertised.

Although it may sometimes seem necessary to purchase abnormally low-priced seeds this always involves the hazard of obtaining seed that is not so good as it should be. A shipment of seed recently bought at approximately one-half the price of good quality seed was found by the U. S. Seed testers to contain less than 42 per cent of seed that would grow. To obtain the proper stand with such seed it would be necessary to plant at about twice the normal rate. This would also double the number of weed seeds, a high percentage of which are usually present in low quality seed.

Missouri farmers will be buying more seed than usual this year because of the large acreage that is being withdrawn from crop production and seeded to grass, legumes, and green manure crops. In making this huge investment in seed farmers should safeguard their interest by utilizing to the fullest possible extent the service offered by the State and federal seed testing service.

Seed should be bought as early as possible, from the locality where produced, from producers or dealers of established reliability, and by ample subject to test. If the seed label shows a germination test, the date of the test should be recent, since some seeds deteriorate rapidly.

Then there was that five-year-old girl in Cleveland who overheard a neighbor woman tell her mother that the stork had just brought a baby to the Joneses.

"It weighs seven pounds", she concluded.

"How much was it a pound?" asked the little girl gravely.—Jackson Cash Book.

FAITH

Even as "honesty is the best policy" so faith is the true incentive to thought and action. Having been limited, disregarded, and then relegated to an abstruse religious sentiment, faith is suffering as the one elemtn of human character that is most needed.

A theology that adopts mind as a king-cure-all introduces the cold and inanimate letter, which depresses and mystifies, and usurps the place of the faith that inspires. God's faith in you as His son or daughter meets your faith in the immaculate conception of life, love, romance and successful adventure.

The old adage that "self-preservation is the first law of nautre" was never true. Reproduction is the first law of nature, and faith is the most prolific of all that attributes of the spirit. Without faith there can be no imagination, without imagination there can be no vision, and without vision there can be no anticipation and successful realization.

Faith is a quality of substantial manhood, the essence of noble womanhood, an attribute of the creative principle, the strength of the heart, the primary organ of character, the sustaining fiber of moral courage, the cement of society and the foundation of civilization.

There is unemployment because obstinate elements are passing away before the maturing faith of the ages. Automobiles, radios, telephones, electricity and even many improved fruits and vegetables, have come into daily use since millions of the thinking population were born. Modern newspapers and magazines with fact finding facilities and fixed knowledge are too new to be fully appreciated and utilized for their highest good as they will be.

They are not physical inventions but external expressions of an internal faith, to be appreciated as fruits of Jesus' saying: "I came that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly". All could to advantage devote a few moments each day to cultivating faith. This would reveal the fact that the spiritual law which sustains the universe justifies one's faith in himself as an indispensbale unit of the whole.

The object of this advertisement is to announce, with deep reverence and humble gratitude, that Christ is now fulfilling His promise in which faith, love and law are united and revealed. The underlying principle of the practical utility of faith are set forth in my TREATISE ON SPIRITUAL LAW, postpaid on receipt of $1. Many who have read it volunteer the endorsement that it is of the highest import to present and future generations. Every dollar received in response hereto will be used to publish and extend a knowledge hereof. -3.

PERTINENT PARAGRAPHS FROM THE PARIS APPEAL

Two years ago the Appeal editor hit upon the happy idea of having each Paris pastor tell in plain, every-day English just what his sect stood for in a doctrinal way. With one accord they dedeclined, on the ground that it might stir up denominational discussion and strife. The real reason probably was that no one of those preachers could tell wherein his denomination differed on any really important mater from the one just across the way. All of us could worship in the same auditorium without any friction and we probably would here in Paris if we had a building with four entrances—one side labeled, "Baptist Church"; another side, "Christian Church"; the third side "Presbyterian Church", and the fourth side, "Methodist Church", each sect entering through its own door. The name really is the only 20th century difference the public can see. It is enough, however, to perpeutate division which once were matters of heaven and hell to members.

Bishop Cannon compared himself to the Apostle Paul in a telegram to the Southern Methodist Conference two weeks ago. Up to that time the Conference had considered him a bigger man than Jesus Christ.

There are a lot of people who still contend that the world is growing worse. It does look that way, too, when even the preachers of a great religious denomination point to Bishop Cannon as the ideal type of American citizenship. On the other hand, the defeat of another religious bigot, Heflin of Alabama, for a seat in Congress may be taken as evidence that the plain pepole are growing better even though the preachers are growing worse.

Awful, isn't it, the way the Government penalizes success by high income taxes? For instance, if a married man has an income of $3000 above his $2500 exemption—or a total income of $5500—he must pay $8 to the Government. Not much of a penalty. But after the $25,000 mark is reached the rate begins to increase. The man whose income is $1,000,000 above exemptions would have to turn half of it into the treasury. It is from this class that all this penalizing talk comes.

Nine-tenths of humanity go to premature graves after working or worrying years of their alloted span in efforts to lay up something for a rainy day. The other ten per cent do the fishing, hunting, croquet playing and loafing, living longer, having more fun and carrying just as much out of the world when they die. This 10 per cent ought to be put to work for at least half their time, say at teaching the other 90 per cent how to get something out of life. There really is a lot of difference between living and making a living.

Bildad Botts, our eminent research expert, thinks the Roosevelt administration has overlooked the main obstacle to recovery. It is the radio crooner. No matter how much the currency may be inflated or how much the Wall Street influence may be deflated, Mr. Botts argues, the public will never be able to throw off its depression blues until the crooner is choked off the microphone. What amazes our research expert is that the president should imagine it possible to do anything for a public which prefers the bellyache in song to hymns of praise or paens of hope, faith and triumph.

TALKS, SOLOS AT U. D. C. MEETING

A program consisting of talks and a vocal solo followed the business meeting of the U. D. C. held Friday afternon at the home of Mrs. W. H. Keller.

Mrs. Moore Greer, the leader, reported outstanding events of a district meeting which she attended Thursday in Farmington with Mesdames J. L. Tanner, T. F. Henry, Charles Lindley and Kate Greer. She also told of the pleasing and satisfactory response which the national organization of the U. D. C. received when officials requested persons associated with schools and civic associations to use the term "war between the States" instead of Civil War.

Mrs. Josephine Veith discussed an article, "Federals Carry Misery and Havoc to Clarkville", which appeared recently in the Sunday magazine section of the Memphis Commercial Appeal, and Mrs. J. W. Crowley talked on "The Story of a Hero and How His Daring Terrorized an Army".

After Mrs. Frank Van Horne had read Joyce Kilmer's "Trees", Mrs. Moore Greer sang "My Mother's Arms".

Before they adjourned, members of the group discussed a proposed triu to Higginsville June 4 for a visit to the Confederate Home for veterans and aged women before they adjourned.

Mrs. Veith was hostess to the women.

Two Useful Fruits

EVERBODY likes grapefruit, and everybody likes pineapple, but have you ever thought of combining these two useful fruits in recipes which should thus be doubly appealing to the palate? If you haven't, here are some which will show you how to do it.

Pineapple and Grapefruit Shortcake*: Boil three-fourths cup canned pineapple syrup, three-fourths cup canned grapefruit syrup and two tablespoons sugar five minutes. Cool, add two cups diced canned pineapple and two cups canned grapefruit sections and serve on hot, rich baking powder biscuits, split and buttered. This makes enough for eight.

A Combination Salad

Pineapple and Grapefruit Salad with Cheese Dressing*: Drain the contents of two 8-ounce cans of Hawaiian pineapple tidbits (or one and one-half cups diced sliced pineapple), and toss lightly with one cup canned grapefruit sections, one cup orange sections and one-half cup halved, seeded grapes. Pile in lettuce leaves and pour over the following cheese dressing. Serves eight.

Cheese Dressing*: Shake together in six tablespoons salad oil, one tablespoon lemon juice, one tablespoon pineapple syrup, and salt and paprika to taste. Smooth, slowly into four tablespoons crumbled Roquefort cheese, and add two tablespoons chopped pimiento.

A Cocktail for March 17

Emerald Isle Cocktail*: Combine the syrup from a No. 2 can of Hawaiian sliced pineapple and a No. 2 can of grapefruit, sweeten slightly if desired with confectioner's sugar, add one-half teaspoon almond flavoring, and tint a delicate green with vegetable coloring. Cut the pineapple slices in quarters, and distribute with the grapefruit sections among eight glasses. Pour over this syrup, and chill. Serves eight.

Oil from giant turtles, from 250 to 700 years old, is now being refined for use as a cosmetic. The rejuvenating powers of this oil act like magic on old faces.

CHAFFEE FIELD TO BE DEDICATED WEDNESDAY

E. M. Munger and Mayor L. J. Heyman will speak at the formal dedication ceremonies Wednesday of the Harmon Field playground in Chaffee.

Other events on the program include a parade of school children, a flag-raising ceremony, selections by a male quartet of the 140th Infantry band and by the Chaffee Junior Band, and a baseball game between the DeLuxe Specials and the Chaffee high school teams. School children will also receive awards in athletics.

For the promise of 200 bushels of corn, a team of mules, a harnessed wagon, and 40 acres of land for rent, Elmer Driskill, 26-year-old farmer, killed Lum Mills, fisherman, on the floodway, thirteen miles northeast of Hayti, Saturday morning, he admitted to officers.

Driskill and William McPherson, also a farmer, whom the former accused of hiring him for the slaying, are in the Pemiscot County jail in Caruthersville and will face charges of murder.

At an inquest it was learned that two weeks ago Mills had allegedly found McPherson in his own home with his wife. It is said that he threatened McPherson's life and extorted money and a promise of a team of mules and a harnessed wagon from him.

Mills, 45 years old, is survived by his wife and three children.

POPPY MEMORIAL FLOWER OF AMERICAN LEGION

The red poppy was adopted as the memorial flower of the American Legion at the Legion's National Convention in Cleveland, O., in 1920. When the American Legion Auxiliary was organized the following year, the little red blossom became the Auxiliary's memorial flower. The poppy is also the memorial flower of the British Legion and is worn in all parts of the British Empire in tribute to the dead.

The memorial poppies which the American Legion Auxiliary will sell on "Poppy Day", May 26, will recall vivid pictures to the minds of Word War veterans who served overseas. The poppies blooming amid the waste and destruction of the battle front, and among the bare graves of the dead, left an unforgettable impression on the American soldiers.

When the American divisions drove forward in the great offensives of 1918, they entered a region torn, desolated and trampled by the most tremendous battles of history. Destruction and death were everywhere, but, amid it all, the little wild poppies bloomed. When machine guns and shell fire took their toll from the American ranks, the poppy was nature's floral offering on the graves of the dead.

To the A. E. F. those poppies seemed to symbolize the brave spirit of their fallen comrades and so it was made the memorial flower of the American Legion.

On Saturday, May 26, you will be asked to buy a poppy by the ladies of the Auxiliary. No one should refuse to make a small contribution and wear a red poppy in memory of those men who made the supreme sacrifice for our America.

The poppies are proper replicas of the flowers that grew on the battlefields. These have been made by crippled vetertans in the government hospitals. All money received for these poppies will be devoted to welfare work of the Legion and Auxiliary among the disabled veterans and the dependent families of veterans.

CARSON-RIGHTER ASK FOR MORE TERRITORY

A hearing on the application by the trucking firm of Carson and Righter for a certificate for convenience and necessity to operate a common carrier in approximately 150 Southeast Missouri towns in addition to those which the concern now has a permit to serve was held before two members of the Public Service Commission in the Marshall Hotel, Monday.

Carson and Righter trucks have previously been operating in some of the towns named in the application to deliver goods to persons and companies with whom they are contracted.

Members of the commission who were in Sikeston for the hearing were Caskie Collet, chairman, and William Stoecker. Wm. Carson and W. L. Righter were represented by Harry Blanton and M. E. Montgomery of Sikeston and June Rose of Jefferson City.

Among the counsels who represented concerns opposing the application were Byron Keabey, Poplar Bluff; Claud Arnold, Puxico; Ira Morris, Mayor of Malden; Fred A. Sheppard, Jackson; Herbert Hoff, Perryville and representative of the Frisco Railway. R. A. Bailey sat at the hearing in behalf of the Potashnick Truck Service.

PLAY CAST READY FOR PERFORMANCE

Members of the senior play cast began rehearsals Monday for their production of Myron C. Fagan's "Nancy's Private Affair", which they will present at 8:00 o'clock tonight (Tuesday) at the high school auditorium.

Lines have been learned, stage settings arranged, and all the separate acts combined into a well-balanced whole. The students in the play are said to be exceptionally well cast, and the play itself a clever comedy filed with light, gay chatter and repartee.

An advance announcement states that "Nancy is one of those smart, sophisticated society women who wants to win back her husband from a baby vamp. Laying aside her horn-rimmed spectacles, she pretends indifference and affects a mysterious interest in other men. Nancy baits her rival with a bogus diamond ring, makes love to her former husband's best friends, and finally tricks the dastardly rival into a marriage with someone else".

TIRES

In reconditioning your car for the spring and summer driving campaign, it is to be hoped that you did not stop with the engine, the brakes, the lights. Of course, these must be in perfect shape, but perhaps you overlooked a vital safety feature in every automobile—the tires.

While your brakes stop the wheels, it is the tires that stop the car. That fact is being emphasized in this day of high speed and increased horsepower. If you go fast, you must stop quickly. And that is where a good tire comes in.

Figures, obtained by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, indicate that three-fourths of the cars inspected in a number of States last year had dangerous defects. Nearly 48 per cent of these defective cars were equipped with tires that were either poor or only in fair condition. A poor, even a fair tire, is liable to a puncture or blowout, and everyone knows what that means at high speeds.

All drivers have noticed the abnormal number of blowouts and punctures during the first warm days. The heat has raised the air pressure and a worn tire has blown out or punctured on a sharp obstruction or severe bump. During the winter months the dampness has seeped in through the cuts and bruises produced by thousands of miles of driving. This dampness has decayed the rubber and weakened the tire.

There were 7120 accidents last year due to punctures or blowouts. In 480 of these accidents persons were killed and there were 27,160 skidding accidents in which 1420 persons were killed and 30,200 injured.

Look your tires over carefully, and if they are not up to standard replace them!

Guard Clothes From Moths

When the heavier winter suits, blankets and furs are put away at this season of spring housecleaning, it is important to remember that the so-called clothes moths must be guarded against says Leonard Haseman, chairman of the entomology department of the Missouri College of Agriculutre. These are particularly apt to cause damage to woolens and furs during the summer when these articles are stored away in trunks, dark closets, and other dark places.

All blankets, furs, woolen suits and other articles of wool or silk should be well sunned and brushed before being stored in mothproof bags, or in tight trunks or chests with a quantity of paradichlorobenzene crystals, camphor, or naphthalene flakes added.

Where moths and carpet beetles have been serious in the past, it is well to fumigate the stored woolens, allowing an ounce of carbon bisulphide to each six cubic feet of space in the trunk or chest. Fire must be kept away when fumigating with this material. A pound tion of paradichlorobenze, placed on the closet shelf, with the lid removed, will usually protect a closet of woolens from moth injury during the summer. This chemical can be secured from most any druggist.

Lady Says CARDUI Eased Pain In Side

Cardui helped an Oklahoma lady, as described below, and many others have been benefited in a similar way.... "I had a hurting in my side every few weeks," writes Mrs. Bill Stewart, of Dewar, Okla. "I had heard of Cardui and started taking it. It stopped my hurting and built up my strength. I took 11 bottles and I sure felt better."

Try Cardui for pains, cramps, nervousness due to a run-down condition. Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

Good Garden Seed Important

Good seed is perhaps the most important factor in the production of a profitable garden says T. J. Talbert of the Missouri College of Agriculture. A grower may have the best of soil, have all the tools and labor necessary for the highest production, and yet his efforts will be a failure if the seed used is inferior. Many growers fail entirely, or produce low yields, because they buy cheap seed. The best seed is always the cheapest regardless of price. It is a good practice to buy seed from firms which are well known and reliable.

MINNIE REPAYS OLD DEBT.

Courtney Ryley Cooper, famous circus writer, with Minnie the elephant and Rollo the pony.

For many years Courtney Ryley Cooper, famous author, has been writing stories and articles about circuses and circus animals In hundreds of these stories elephants play an important and highly creditable part.

Because of the favorable publicity these stories have given the elephant family, Minnie, the elephant shown above, recently consented to help out Mr. Cooper. Together with a collection of clowns, cowboys, Indians, band wagons, etc., Minnie marched up Broadway the other day as a member of the first circus parade New York witnessed in many years.

The purpose of the parade was to call attention to the first performance of "Circus Days," Courtney Ryley Cooper's new radio series. Thanks to Minnie and her fellow marchers throngs of New Yorkers learned of the new radio feature.

Responding to Mr. Cooper's thanks for the part she played, Minnie modestly trumpeted "An elephant never forgets."

SAAD DAYS ARE HERE

Though the old adage, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away", still holds good there's another one that should be added, "A leafy green vegetable a day adds zest to living". It really does more than that, for besides stimulating the appetite, it protects the health. Vitamin C is hidden in most green vegetables and it loses its potency when cooked. So, the very best way to serve such vegetables is in salads.

Salads, you know, have grown up in importance since the days when they were served an as interlude between the main course and dessert. Now they are appetizers, desserts, or whole meals in themselves, besides being tempting interludes. A salad bowl of crisp lettuce, rosy ripe tomatoes, paper-thin slices of cucumber, a sprinkling of fine diced green pepper and just a suspicoin of minced onion tossed lightly together with French dressing makes a most tempting and satisfying luncheon, when served with tea and thin brown bread sandwiches. A fruit salad is an ideal dessert after a dinner. And as an appetizer, thin slices of radishes, a stalk or two of asparagus and thin slivers of cucumber in a lettuce cup will tempt the most reluctant appetite.

Besides being just about the easiest thing to make that we know about, salads offer the home-manager an unsurpassed outlet for her culinary ingenuity. Salads bring color and beauty to the meal, and clever hostesses can paint beautiful pictures with almost anything from the beans and cauliflower left over from Tuesday's dinner to an avocado pear, provided she uses a background of crisp letuce, tender endive or water cress and adds a dash of piquant dressing.

Meat and Macaroni Salad

3 cups cooked macaroni
2 cups left-over cooked meat
½ cup chopped sweet pickle
Salt, pepper, paprika
1 cup diced celery
½ cup chopped onion
1 pimento, chopped
Salad dressing

Mix all ingredients lightly and serve in a salad bowl, lined with lettuce leaves.

Jellied Ham in Cider

½ cup raisins
2 cups cider
2 whole cloves
2 tablespoons brown sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 pkg. lemon flavored gelatin
1 cup baked ham, cut in small cubes or slices

Soak raisins in cider until plump; add cloves, sugar and salt and bring to a boiling point. Pour over gelatin and stir until entirely dissolved. Remove cloves and chill. When mixture begins to thicken add ham. Mold in a loaf pan and chill until firm. Serve in slices on lettuce.

Los Angeles Fruit Salad

¾ cup marshmallows, cut in strips
5 slices of pineapple, drained and cut in cubes
2½ cups white cherries, pitted and halved
½ cup walnut meats

Combine ingredients and add a dash of salt. Serve with cream salad dressing and garnish each serving with strips of pimento and finely chopped parsley.

Cream Salad Dressing

⅓ cup mayonnaise
½ tablespoon confectioner's sugar
⅓ cup cream, whipped
1½ tablespoons lemon juice
dash of salt

Pea and Ham Salad

1 can French peas
1 cup ground boiled ham, not too salty
1 crisp cucumber, diced finely minced onion or onion juice

Combine ingredients by tossing together lightly. Add desired dressing and serve on crisp lettuce leaves.

NUNN SAYS SUBSOIL MOISTURE NEEDED

"Subsoil moisture continues very deficient in all sections", according to Roscoe Nunn in his weekly report issued from the St. Louis weather bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture.

"So far in May, the Mississippi River at St. Louis is registering the same very low stages that occurred in May, 1931. Average rainfall for the State, since January 1, is 65 per cent of normal; since April 1, 59 per cent".

The weather was warm for so early in the season, Mr. Nunn says, but the high temperatures were favorable, especially where there was a sufficiency of moisture. The most rain fell in the northern half and in the lower southeastern district. In a large central-eastern area there was no rainfall of importance, and crops barely held their own.

"Wheat made poor to very good progress, in accordance with the moisture situation", Mr. Nunn said. A great part of it is backward and some is being hurt by aphis, as well as chinch bugs, which are already threatening in central districts. A heavy infestation is reported, and oats are suffering from them, too.

"Corn planting is well advanced, finished in many localities, and some corn is up to good stands. In other places it has been too dry for good germination".

Generally, oats made only fair progress, since rain is needed in most sections. "Alfalfa, pastures and garden truck made good growth where good rains occurred, but only poor to fair in the dry sections. Fruits and berries, for the most part, are reported in good condition".

E. J. Stackpole, editor-in-chief of the Harrisburg (Pa.) Telegraph, says:

"Long since the value of advertising was recognized in commercial and business circles as a necessary asset of modern business practice. On a certain occasion I had a talk with the late John Wanamaker, whose firm has spent millions of dollars in advertising and tried to elicit a statement from him as to how he proved the advertising of his outstanding firm.

" 'Well', he said, 'we make no effort to check up on any particular advertisement or series of advertisements. We have discovered, however, that when we cease advertising or limit it too much the results are at once apparent in our sales. We believe that the newspaper is highly valuable as an incentive to purchasing the various commodities and when it is dropped for alleged economic reasons the effects are immediately noticeable in our stores'.

"There could be no higher testimony to the value of advertising than this of the great Merchant Prince who knew the game from the bottom up.

"Emerging from an uparalleled economic depression which has had some influence upon advertising, I am persuaded that the use of newspaper space by merchants and others will contribute largely to a return to normal conditions of prosperity and business activity. Already in our own newspapers we find a disposition to return to those practices which have already been accepted as consistent with good business.

"Another thing which might be mentioned is the necessity for consistent advertising, avoiding sporadic bursts of special sales which do not greatly impress the shopper. What we need in the United States today is return of faith in the country and in each other, and this can be acomplished through intelligent adveritsing programs".

CHARLESTON STUDY CLUB HOSTESS TO SIKESTON WOMAN'S CLUB THURSDAY

A very pretty tea at the home of Mrs. P. A. Kasey Thursday afternoon was enjoyed by the Sikeston Woman's Club.

Mrs. C. L. Joslyn, president of the Charleston Club, opened the meeting with a very beautiful prayer.

Mrs. C. C. White, program chairman of the Sikeston Club, introduced Mrs. Bert Rowe and Miss Mills of Malden and Mrs. Orear of Sikeston.

Mrs. Rowe gave a splendid review of the drama "Green Pastures" by M. Connelly, with Mrs. Orear and Miss Mills singing the negro spirituals throughout the rendition of the play.

At the close of the program, a lovely tea was enjoyed.

The following Sikeston ladies were guests of the Charleston Club: Mesdames Ray Burns, C. C. White, C. A. Cook, Calvin Greer, L. O. Rodes, T. F. Henry, J. L. Tanner, F. D. Lair, Jack Anderson, A. B. Hunter, Arthur Reese, G. A. Dempster, J. W. Foley, G. E. Daniels, E. H. Orear, Robert Noland and C. L. Blanton, Sr.

Paper money has performed an important part in the history of these United States. Adopted as a matter of necessity, and not from choice, by the Massachuetts Bay Colony, in 1690, it was gradually issued by other colonies until in general use by all. It was the original intention of the Colonies to have it equal current coin, but depreciation took place, followed by succeeding issues of paper money until it became practically worthless.

SIKESTON STANDARD

Southeast Missouri's Leading Semi-Weekly

VOLUME 22 — SIKESTON, SCOTT COUNTY, MISSOURI TUESDAY MORNING, MAY 15, 1934 — NUMBER 65

THE EDITOR SAYS—

Today is the day voters are to say whether or not they will shoulder a ten million dollar bond issue on the State for the penal and eleemosynary institutions. It is up to you.

Yes, sir, the interest The Standard takes in a lot of things is political. In local affairs, until recently, politics played a small part in our life, but for several years past the city has supposed to have had a Democratic Mayor who kept Republicans in three out of four paying appointments and that condition is what caused the change in the Mayor's office. The Republicans of the city combined with the bolter and tied the hands of the new Mayor in a way, and when we say, in a way, that is what we mean, as we are told two men elected as Democrats are not standing with the Mayor.

We had the pleasure of visiting the flower garden of Mrs. G. A. Dempster Monday forenoon and certainly enjoyed the blooming roses, the flowing fountain, the gold fish and Eden-like surroundings. The prettiest back yard in Sikeston.

The recent paragraph carried in The Standard about the waterworks being a losing proposition, has been challenged by one of the Councilmen. Well, all we know is what we learned from a couple of the Board of Public Works who have but recently had the waterworks placed under their supervision. They said it was a losing proposition for the reason no sinking fund, no interest fund, no depreciation fund had been set aside, but every cent collected was used to pay help on the streets and if any was left it went into the general revenue fund. Anyway, we have as pure drinking water as any city and that is a lot. Just how the Board of Public Works is going to operate the system to show that it pays, remains to be seen.

Fires in furnaces have been allowed to die and the ice box steps in to take the money. Now is the time to have the furnace examined and placed in condition for the next season. Don't wait until the last minute and blame the furnace man for not having the parts in stock.

A simple remedy for those suffering from corns or callouses is fried meat grease or lard into which is mixed common table soda to make a thick paste. Apply to affected part and bind on with a rag or surgical dressing. This will soften the corn or calloused part and permit it to be removed. This is a never failing remedy and is recommended by Mack Nichols. This is for foot ailments, tho' it might work just as thoroughly for those whose ailments are caused from too much sitting.

We hate to print it, but truth will out. Last week The Sikeston Standard carried 2361 inches of paid advertising while Sikeston's second newspaper carried 579 inches. Those who have anything to sell wish it placed before the reading public in a paper that is read.

This is to inform the voting public that The Standard is not fighting the ten million dollar bond issue, but has nothing to say for it. Columns of free dope has been sent us telling of the awful conditions existing at the penitentiary and we didn't care a rap how bad the conditions were as the criminals made their own bed. It is regrettable the way things are at the tubercular hospital and the asylums, but they have been that way for twenty years and the Legislatures have refused aid. If the criminal institutions were not coupled with the asylums, we would favor the bond issue. We are not going to vote for it and you can do as you please about it.

Suspected Slayer of Green Killed In Attempted Escape

Doyne Vinyard, 21 years old, suspected of participating in the slaying March 28 of Clarence Green, night marshal at Campbell, was shot and killed by St. Louis Police Saturday as he attempted to flee from his mother's home in St. Louis late Saturday afternoon.

He finally fell dead in an alley with four bullet wounds in his body. What was supposed to have been the fatal charge entered above his right hip and came out on the left side. He had also been shot in the right shoulder and in both feet.

Green was killed late in the night as he pursued three men who earlier had run from a filling station near the edge of Campbell and into a wooded section nearby. When he came upon them unexpectedly, one of them fired at him before he could draw his gun. He died almost instantly with four charges in his body.

Ray Young, 26 years old, was arrested two days later at his home in Rector, Ark., and accused of complicity in the crime. In his possession were found numerous articles stolen from a store in Advance a few days previously. Fred Adams, also said to have been implicated, was caught in Paragould, Ark., where he and Vinyard were seen in a freight car. The latter escaped by disappearing in a thicket which bordered the railroad track and went into hiding near Rector, it is supposed.

Vinyard was thought to have been involved chiefly because his automobile, also containing goods from the Advance store was found abandoned in Campbell after the shooting. St. Louis police had been watching for him at his mother's home.

He arrived there at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon. An hour later officers had surrounded the house. Two went inside. When one of them saw Vinyard trying to hide in the front room closet, Vinyard ran to a window and leaped out on the roof of the house porch.

Then began a wild and futile attempt to escape. Vinyard jumped from one roof to another, one time sinking through rusted metal, then extricating himself, while an officer followed him, firing his revolver. At last Vinyard leaped from a roof to the alley below. After four or five steps he colapsed.

His body was removed to the City Hospital. His mother, Mrs. Lillian Vinyard, his sister, Janice Vinyard, and a brother, Jno. Vinyard, all of whom were at home at the time of the shooting were taken to a police station for questioning. Because she was near collapse, however, the mother was sent to the City Hospital.

By his picture, Vinyard was tentatively identified as one of the robbers who held up the First National Bank of Kennett November 20 of last year.

Distinguished Soldier to Relate Adventures

Major Thomas A. Ruddell, who during the World War distinguised himself while he was having unusual experiences, will be here Wednesday to speak at a regular weekly luncheon meeting of members of the Lions Club.

While he was a major in the Italian Foreign Legion, he fought against Arabs of northern Africa, was captured, dined with a sheik, and studied social and economic conditions of the people whom he encountered. All this and much more he will relate when he talks here on "Africa Speaks".

Among his four medals for distinguished war service are the Silver Valor Medal of Africa and the Croix de Guerre. He was further honored by the king of Italy, who knighted him.

At the end of the war, Major Ruddell returned to this country. He is now division sales manager in St. Louis for the Spencer Corset Company of New Haven, Conn., and heads a force of 200 persons. In three years he has tripled his concern's business by introducing novel and outstanding sales methods.

He is an active worker in St. Louis civic organizations and comes here as a member of the speakers' bureau of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

The fact that Major Ruddell has been a dynamic personality, not only as a soldier but as a business man, indicates that he will present something worth while for all Sikeston merchants and executives, and for that reason Lions Club members urge every interested person to attend their luncheon meeting.

District Woman's Club Convention to Be Here

Members of the Woman's Club who were appointed to committees by Mrs. L. R. Burns, the president, at a meeting last Tuesday, will arrange details for a day and a half convention of the ninth district of Woman's Clubs which will be held here during the latter part of October.

Since the Sikeston Club members will adjourn until October 2 after their next meeting on May 22, Mrs. Burns named women to committees so they may plan their work throughout the summer and early fall, considering registration, entertainment, programs, transportation, decorations, tickets and other matters.

About 150 members of the 75 Woman's Clubs of the ninth district and 25 State officers are expected to attend the October convention.

Five Released After Charges Are Dropped

Five members of a medicine show who were arrested and held in Caruthersville on charges of murdering Russell Evans, whose body was found floating in the Missisippi river Monday, have been released.

The charges have been dismissed because officers were unable to find sufficient evidence to institute a trial. Investigation of the case will probably be discontinued, and while some believe that Evans committed suicide, others still think he was killed.

It is said that last Monday, only a few hours before Evans' body was found, two men stopped at the home of a prominent Caruthersville woman, who lives near the river, and asked her if anyone had found a "floater" recently. These men have not geen seen again for questioning.

The five accused persons, all members of the Zarlington troupe, which has for some time been exhibiting in Southeast Missouri with a medicine show, emphatically denied charges of killing Evans. They are Mrs. Bonnie Evans, his widow; Teny and Mary, his daughters; Howard, his son, and Thelma, Howard's wife.

BLUFF SENIORS GIVE BENEFIT FOR GARNER

Members of the senior class of the Poplar Bluff high school combined to help their classmate, Clyde Garner, Monday night, when they charged admission to their annual senior class day program held at the high school auditorium.

Proceeds from the entertainment, a musical revue, were given to Garner to help pay for hospital and operation costs contracted after he was struck by a discus at the Southeast Missouri track and field meet in Cape Girardeau.

Garner, whose condition was for a time very serious, slowly recovered and was taken to his home in Poplar Bluff a few days ago.

Ordinarily, there is no admission charge for the seniors' program. Garner's classmates, however, thought a performance in his honor would be commendable, especially since he has been unable to participate in any of the school's closing activities.

The five will probably return here today.

AMERICANS ARE DRINKING MORE LIQUOR, LESS BEER

Federal officials think that possibly citizens of the United States are now drinking more hard liquor and less beer than they did before the prohibition amendment was adopted.

Eighteen yeras ago, 80,720,000 gallons of whisky, gin, rum and brandy were consumed in this country. In 1917, the following year, the total reached 96,250,000 gallons.

Taxes for liquor production show people are drinking United States wares at the rate of 85,000,000 gallons annually. In addition to this, 3,640,000 gallons of liquor were imported during the first quarter of 1934.

If these rates continued during the year, the total consumption would reach more than 100,000,000, and liquor from bootleggers, not included in estimates, would push it still higher.

Federal officials, however, believe that some of the liquor purchased will be stored for aging and that the high consumption of the early repeal months will not last.

The government received $138,-57,000 in beer production taxes during one year. Since most of the taxes were $5 a barrel, it is tho't that about 27,709,500 barrels were consumed. The 1917 beer consumption was 60,790,000 barrels.

Tax rates have increased greatly since pre-prohibition days as shown in the following figures: 1917 liquor production tax, $1.10 a gallon, 1934, $2; 1917 beer production tax, $1.50 a barrell, 1934, $5.

Campbell Turns Down Liquor Sale by Drink

Campbell residents last week decided not to buy liquor by the drink. The total count indicated 348 opposed the proposition and only 72 favored it.

Clergymen of Campbell actively participated in the election, transporting numerous persons to the polls. The city will be at least technically dry for four years.

Portageville citizens, however, voted May 1 to sell liquor by the drink for the first time in twenty-two years. Two hundred and eighty-two men and women cast their ballots for sale, while 189 expressed disapproval. The wets won by a majority of 93.

Residents of New Madrid and Malden will vote soon on the same question, the former on May 22, the latter, June 5. In both towns petitions bearing the names of a designated percentage of qualified voters and requesting such an election were presented to members of the city councils who, in turn, arranged for special ballotings.

The proposal to sell liquor by the drink has been settled now in numerous Southeast Missouri towns. It has been accepted in Fornfelt, Caruthersville and Steele and rejected in Poplar Bluff.

Throughout the afternoon Miss Grace Estes played, and before the service Miss Neva Mae Taylor sang "I Love You Truly".

Decorations were in pink and white with pink and white peonies and roses and mock orange blossoms placed over the house.

The bride wore a powder blue chiffon dress and carried a corsage of pink rosebuds. Miss Audrey Reiss, her sister and only attendant, was dressed in dusty pink chiffon and had a corsage of blue sweet peas. Mr. Standley was attended by George Hertle of St. Louis.

BOND ISSUE, ALDERMAN TO BE VOTED ON TODAY

Today people all over the State will go to the polls to decide whether as a whole they will support the proposed $10,000,000 bond issue for the repair of Missouri's penal and eleemosynary institutions.

A vigorous campaign has been made for this proposition by State and civic leaders. The lamentable conditions of most of the eleemosynary institutions, notably those at St. Joseph, Mt. Vernon, Fulton and Nevada, are generally known. It is also known that the State will be given a federal PWA grant of $3,400,000 if this issue is passed and that the work of improving buildings which house Missouri's mentally deficient, tubercular sufferers, and prisoners will provide employment for numerous people.

Some ciitzens, however, object to the inclusion in the proposed bond issue of provisions for the penitentiary because they feel that men who commit crimes have no right to expect too comfortable quarters after they are caught, convicted and sentenced. It is thought by some, too, that altho' State leaders have emphatically stated politics will not have a part in the execution of the work, should the issue be approved, the wishes of Kansas City's Democratic leader will be granted, his supporters employed, and his products used.

Residents of the third ward in Sikeston will also cast ballots today for an alderman to fill the place left vacant by Dr. G. W. Presnell when he was elected mayor last month. The only man who has announced for this position is Barney Forrester.

By order of the Scott County Court, the number of precincts in Sikeston for this election have been reduced from four to two. Persons living on the south side of the city will vote at the J. Wm. Foley Motor Co.; those on the north, at the City Hall.

BANTON CHOOSES SALE AS ASSISTANT ATTY.

Harry Blanton today announces the appointment of Irwin Sale of St. Louis, as assistant United States Attorney. He succeeds Bryan Purteet, who resigned several weeks ago.

He has served as Past Master of his Masonic lodge and as Worthy Patron of the Eastern Star. He has been the Democratic nominee for congress in one of the St. Louis districts and was his party's choice for judge of the Court of Criminal Correction in 1928.

He has been active in party councils for years, was an enthusiastic supporter of Senator Bennet Champ Clark during the last campaign, and has been a personal friend of District Attorney Blanton for numerous years.

Sale is a bachelor and lives with his widowed mother. He is about 44 years old.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Patterson and children, Dimple and Billy, and Mrs. Dean Marshall and daughter, Dorothy, spent Sunday with Mrs. Patterson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Darter, near Tanner.

A big Democratic rally is to be held at Ozark, Christian County, Friday of this week, to get up pep for the Fall election. It is a long way from Sikeston to Ozark, but they are hoping some Democrats from here will be there.

James F. Fulbright of Doniphan will not be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress, according to his son, Carleton Fulbright, who was in the city recently. There are many who believe Mr. Fulbright would have been a strong candidate in spite of the fact that the remodelling of the district cut out several counties in his part of the district in which he was particularly strong. Mr. Fulbright was the last congressman from the old Fourthteenth district and perhaps had a larger general following in all counties of the new district than any other man whose name has been mentioned for the nomination. With Mr. Fulbright out of the race, it is believed that Zimmerman's candidacy will be strengthened in this county.

Applying Apricots

OF COURSE you have eaten apricots all by themselves and found them delicious. But what would you say if someone asked you suddenly what other ways there are to serve them? In order to forestall the possibility of your having to answer "I don't know" to such a question, here are a couple of dishes in which canned apricots combine to the Queen's taste. The first is

Fried Ham with Apricots*: Fry ham in the usual way. Remove to a hot platter. Drain a can of apricots well, dip the fruit in flour, and saute a nice brown in the ham fat. Arrange around the ham. Make a sauce by caramelizing two tablespoons sugar, adding two-thirds cup syrup from the canned apricots and cooking till smooth. Add three tablespoons orange juice, and then two teaspoons flour smoothed in two tablespoons cold water. Cook till slightly thick, and serve with the ham and apricots.

For a Fine Dessert

Butterscotch Rice Ring Filled with Apricots*: Boil one-half cup rice three minutes in salted water, drain and add to two cups scalded milk. Cover and cook in double boiler until almost tender. Melt together one tablespoon butter and two-thirds cup brown sugar until thick, add to rice and continue cooking until the rice is very tender and the mixture thick. Add two slightly beaten egg yolks, cook one minute longer and pour into a buttered ring mold. When set and cold, turn out onto a plate. Meanwhile, boil one-half cup sugar with the contents of a No. 2 can of apricots for three or four minutes, chill and fill the center of the rice ring. Serve plain, or with plain or whipped cream. Serves eight.

"Why keep worrying about the children?"

"I can't help it".

"But, my dear, you are hurting your bridge game".

MISSOURI HISTORY

Courtesy Missouri Historical Society

Floyd C. Shoemaker

The death of Peter H. Burnett at San Francisco on May 17, 1895, thirty-nine years ago this week, closed the remarkable career of one of the foremost of those Missourians who won for Missouri the title of "Mother of the West". Burnett became the first State governor of California, and served on the supreme court of both that State and Oregon territory. But it was in Missouri, on the rigorous frontiers of the Boone's Lick and the Platte Purchase countries, that he received his early training.

Burnett was born at Nashville, Tennessee, on November 15, 1807, coming with his parents to Howard county, Missouri, ten years later. The family had a farm near Franklin, and for a while they lived in the town. Illness in the river bottom, however, drove the family westward in 1882, to settle in Clay County. After returning to Tennessee in 1826, where he remained for six years, meanwhile being married working in a hotel, and unsuccessfully embarking in the mercantile business, Burnett once again came to Missouri, settling at Liberty.

Already Burnett had been studying law, but his entrance into the profession was delayed for some years. He was in the mercantile business at Liberty, and with his brother, had a store at Barry and also operated a saw mill and a distillery. To these enterprises was added the work of editing a weekly newspaper, The Far West. He was also interested in public questions, and in 1835 was on a committee that drew up a memorial to Congress in favor of extending the boundary of northwest Missouri to the Missouri river. However, finding himself gradually sinking deeper into debt, Burnett in 1839 decided to abandon his other enterprises to try law.

As a member of the militia, Burnett had seen active service in the Mormon troubles. Later he was employed with Amos Rees and A. W. Doniphan as counsel for the Mormon leaders who were confined in the jail at Liberty. During the winter of 1839-40, William T. Wood, the district attorney, decided to resign and he recommended Burnett for the place, to which he was appointed. Shortly after, when the district was divided D. R. Atchison became judge of the circuit including Clinton, Andrew, Buchanan, Holt and Platte counties, and Burnett was made the prosecuting attorney, which office he held until he resigned in 1843.

Perhaps one of the most far-reaching events in Burnett's life occurred about this time, though in his Recollections and Opinions of an Old Pioneer, he fails to mention it. A law of the General Assembly approved February 8, 1839, named Burnett as one of five men to select a site for the University of Missouri. The commissioners met at Jefferson City on June 24, opened the bids, and awarded the site to Boone county. Burnett thus had a part in locating the oldest State University west of the Mississippi River.

In later years, Burnett recalled that his circuit on the western frontier of Missouri had more criminal business than any other in the State outside of St. Louis. The unsettled condition of the new Platte country had attracted many lawless characters, and packed juries and intimidations were common. Yet Burnett handled his crowded dockets with speed and without fear, and at the same time acquired extensive legal knowledge through practical experience.

Until 1840, the Burnett family lived at Liberty, but in that year they moved to Platte City, and in the fall of 1842 to Weston. Despairing of ever earning enough to pay his debts in Missouri, and influenced by his wife's ill health, Burnett and his family left for Oregon on May 22, 1843, with a party of nearly 900 emigrants, of which he was captain for a time.

In Oregon, Burnett located near the mouth of the Williamette and, later, on a farm near the site of Hillsboro. He served on a pioneer legislative committee, on the supreme court, and was elected to the territorial legislature in 1848. Late in that year he led a company of 150 men to the California gold mines. In California, Burnett became attorney and general agent of John A. Sutter, on whose land gold was discovered, but left Sutter the next year, and became judge of the superior tribunal of California. On November 13, 1849, Burnett was overwhelmingly elected governor of the State, but he resigned early in 1851. In 1857 and 1858 he served on the supreme court. Burnett was able to pay his debts in Missouri during the early years he spent in California, and in later years he became president of the Pacific Bank in San Francisco, retiring in 1880. He was the author of four books.

Firestone LEADERSHIP

"The Ultimate Test of Leadership is Performance"

FIRESTONE has maintained its leadership in tire development by producing a new tire for 1934 with a wider tread, flatter contour, deeper non-skid, greater thickness, and more and tougher rubber, which gives greater non-skid safety, more traction, greater blowout protection, and more than 50% longer non-skid mileage.

These achievements are made practical by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping, providing greater adhesion between the plies of the high stretch cords and between the Gum-Dipped body of the tire and the tough, massive non-skid tread. It also provides greater strength, longer flexing life, and greater protection against blowouts.

Gum-Dipping made it possible for Firestone to design, develop and put on the market the first successful balloon tire in 1923. This tire was the pattern used by all others and completely revolutionized the tire industry and set new standards for the automobile industry.

Firestone also developed the first all-rubber non-skid tire, and has always been first to give motorists the benefits of new discoveries in non-skid design, providing more traction and greater non-skid safety.

For fourteen years leading race drivers have driven to victory on Firestone tires, built with Gum-Dipped high stretch cords. They have trusted their lives to Firestone Leadership — as they know that the patented Firestone construction features provide them with greater safety—longer mileage—and greater blowout protection.

The EVE of Today Must Have Hips Like the Serpent

"Mae Westian" curves are amusing on the screen when they recall the gay nineties, but the gallants of today like them slender. WHY do you suppose Chevrolet keeps repeating, in all of its advertising, "Drive it only 5 miles"? Here's the reason: Chevrolet engineers have tried out all the various makes of cars in today's low-price field. And they have proved, to their complete satisfaction, the same things that hundreds of thousands of Chevrolet owners are proving in their daily driving: How much more smoothly a car travels with genuine, fully-enclosed Knee-Action. How much more comfortably it handles, with shock-proof steering. How much more restfully you ride, in a Fisher Body car. How much more safely you drive, with cable-controlled brakes. And how much finer performance and better economy are secured from an overhead-valve Six! In other words, Chevrolet engineers know for sure that the Chevrolet ride simply can't be matched by any other in the low-price field. They know it — thousands of owners know it — and now we want you to know it too, before you make your final choice of a low-priced car.

Washington Comment

Some difference of opinion appears to have arisen regarding the federal control of industry, typified by the Blue Eagle. Upon the one hand, the government promises a campaign, within the next month or two, to make the well-known bird more popular and effective than heretofore. Upon the other hand, the consensus of opinion as expressed at a dinner held by the United States Chamber of Commerce, seems to be to the effect that while the old-time, cut-throat methods of competition should go, industry perhaps should be given a less shackled hand in the management of its own affairs. The Blue Eagle movement arose out of emergency, and when the emergency has passed, the control which conditions made neccessary, undoubtedly will cease or be modified, with perfect concord among all parties concerned. The real issue at present involved seems to be whether or not the time for a litlte wing-clipping has arrived. Presumably, not even the strongest advocates of government control would care to state that regulation of business to the existing degree must be regarded as a permanent institution.

The plans of Japan to assume management in the affairs of the East, and in China in particular, have encountered a stumbling block, as might have been expected, and in the instance under consideration, the obstruction was laid by the State Department of the United States. The views of the Department of State cannot be made more clear than by quoting them. "No nation can, without the assent of the other nations concerned, rightfully endeavor to make conclusive its will in situations where there are involved the rights, the obligations and the legitimate interests of other sovereign States". It is not likely that Japan will lay aside her ambitions to be the arbiter of Asiatic affairs in view of the American note, but that document should be understood to mean that if Japan has any idea that she can go it alone in Chinese affairs, she will have a rough and rugged road to travel. A Russian statesman once sought to brush aside objections to the policy of his country by stating that Russia was not a nation but a world. Napoleon's hopes are a well-remembered piece of history. Within the memory of young men, Germany bit off more than she could chew. Japan, in the words of Patrick Henry, "may profit by their example".

Mr. Dillinger is said to be back in the big bad city of Chicago, gun in hand. If the report is true, one may recall a few lines from Robert Louis Stevenson's epitaph: "Home is the sailor, home from the sea, and the shepherd home from the shore". Dillinger may need an epitaph shortly, and it will be well to keep Mr. Stevenson's words in mind.

In days about thirty years gone, Carrie Nation handled bar rooms alone, axe in hand. A Balitimore woman has resorted to similar methods. Puns are said to be in bad taste, but it is hard to resist the temptation to state that Mrs. Nation said that what the drink problem needed was a little "hatchetation". Whether hatchetation is a method that has been outgrown, remains to be seen.

It is not so long that one-half of one per cent was a familiar phrase. Then four per cent by volume came along. Ten per cent, however, is going a little too strong, not in connection with drinks this time, but as a raise in the income tax, the House having voted down the boost, to the tune of 282 to 77. The Senate is entitled to further consideration of the matter before the measure goes to Mr. Roosevelt, but as things now stand, the income tax increase has been given a distinctly-visible black eye. Whether or not the proposed raise was necessary, no one can state with any degree of certainty that he is right, but one thing is absolutely sure: It was not popular with the tax paying masses.

The papers report that May Day passed quietly in Paris, peace and good order being marred only by four thousand Communists, who shot at the police from behind barricades, a statement that leads one to speculate as to what a genuine Paris disorder must be like.

Cheap Seed May Be Costly

Farmers who are offered unusually low-priced seed should take the precaution of investigating the source and the quality of the seed before testing, say the seed specialists of the U. S. Seed Testing Laboratory operated at Columbia in connection with the Missouri Agricultural Experiment Station. A sample of the seed under consideration may be submitted to the laboratory for a free test on purity and germination. In many instances, also, the specialists can also tell whether or not the seed is of the variety advertised.

Although it may sometimes seem necessary to purchase abnormally low-priced seeds this always involves the hazard of obtaining seed that is not so good as it should be. A shipment of seed recently bought at approximately one-half the price of good quality seed was found by the U. S. Seed testers to contain less than 42 per cent of seed that would grow. To obtain the proper stand with such seed it would be necessary to plant at about twice the normal rate. This would also double the number of weed seeds, a high percentage of which are usually present in low quality seed.

Missouri farmers will be buying more seed than usual this year because of the large acreage that is being withdrawn from crop production and seeded to grass, legumes, and green manure crops. In making this huge investment in seed farmers should safeguard their interest by utilizing to the fullest possible extent the service offered by the State and federal seed testing service.

Seed should be bought as early as possible, from the locality where produced, from producers or dealers of established reliability, and by ample subject to test. If the seed label shows a germination test, the date of the test should be recent, since some seeds deteriorate rapidly.

FAITH

Even as "honesty is the best policy" so faith is the true incentive to thought and action. Having been limited, disregarded, and then relegated to an abstruse religious sentiment, faith is suffering as the one elemtn of human character that is most needed.

A theology that adopts mind as a king-cure-all introduces the cold and inanimate letter, which depresses and mystifies, and usurps the place of the faith that inspires. God's faith in you as His son or daughter meets your faith in the immaculate conception of life, love, romance and successful adventure.

The old adage that "self-preservation is the first law of nautre" was never true. Reproduction is the first law of nature, and faith is the most prolific of all that attributes of the spirit. Without faith there can be no imagination, without imagination there can be no vision, and without vision there can be no anticipation and successful realization.

Faith is a quality of substantual manhood, the essence of noble womanhood, an attribute of the creative principle, the strength of the heart, the primary organ of character, the sustaining fiber of moral courage, the cement of society and the foundation of civilization.

There is unemployment because obstinate elements are passing away before the maturing faith of the ages. Automobiles, radios, telephones, electricity and even many improved fruits and vegetables, have come into daily use since millions of the thinking population were born. Modern newspapers and magazines with fact finding facilities and fixed knowledge are too new to be fully appreciated and utilized for their highest good as they will be.

They are not physical inventions but external expressions of an internal faith, to be appreciated as fruits of Jesus' saying: "I came that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly". All could to advantage devote a few moments each day to cultivating faith. This would reveal the fact that the spiritual law which sustains the universe justifies one's faith in himself as an indispensbale unit of the whole.

The object of this advertisement is to announce, with deep reverence and humble gratitude, that Christ is now fulfilling His promise in which faith, love and law are united and revealed. The underlying principle of the practical utility of faith are set forth in my TREATISE ON SPIRITUAL LAW, postpaid on receipt of $1. Many who have read it volunteer the endorsement that it is of the highest import to present and future generations. Every dollar received in response hereto will be used to publish and extend a knowledge hereof. -3.

PERTINENT PARAGRAPHS FROM THE PARIS APPEAL

Two years ago the Appeal editor hit upon the happy idea of having each Paris pastor tell in plain, every-day English just what his sect stood for in a doctrinal way. With one accord they dedeclined, on the ground that it might stir up denominational discussion and strife. The real reason probably was that no one of those preachers could tell wherein his denomination differed on any really important mater from the one just across the way. All of us could worship in the same auditorium without any friction and we probably would here in Paris if we had a building with four entrances—one side labeled, "Baptist Church"; another side, "Christian Church"; the third side "Presbyterian Church", and the fourth side, "Methodist Church", each sect entering through its own door. The name really is the only 20th century difference the public can see. It is enough, however, to perpeutate division which once were matters of heaven and hell to members.

Bishop Cannon compared himself to the Apostle Paul in a telegram to the Southern Methodist Conference two weeks ago. Up to that time the Conference had considered him a bigger man than Jesus Christ.

There are a lot of people who still contend that the world is growing worse. It does look that way, too, when even the preachers of a great religious denomination point to Bishop Cannon as the ideal type of American citizenship. On the other hand, the defeat of another religious bigot, Heflin of Alabama, for a seat in Congress may be taken as evidence that the plain pepole are growing better even though the preachers are growing worse.

Awful, isn't it, the way the Government penalizes success by high income taxes? For instance, if a married man has an income of $3000 above his $2500 exemption—or a total income of $5500—he must pay $8 to the Government. Not much of a penalty. But after the $25,000 mark is reached the rate begins to increase. The man whose income is $1,000,000 above exemptions would have to turn half of it into the treasury. It is from this class that all this penalizing talk comes.

Nine-tenths of humanity go to premature graves after working or worrying years of their alloted span in efforts to lay up something for a rainy day. The other ten per cent do the fishing, hunting, croquet playing and loafing, living longer, having more fun and carrying just as much out of the world when they die. This 10 per cent ought to be put to work for at least half their time, say at teaching the other 90 per cent how to get something out of life. There really is a lot of difference between living and making a living.

Bildad Botts, our eminent research expert, thinks the Roosevelt administration has overlooked the main obstacle to recovery. It is the radio crooner. No matter how much the currency may be inflated or how much the Wall Street influence may be deflated, Mr. Botts argues, the public will never be able to throw off its depression blues until the crooner is choked off the microphone. What amazes our research expert is that the president should imagine it possible to do anything for a public which prefers the bellyache in song to hymns of praise or paens of hope, faith and triumph.

TALKS, SOLOS AT U. D. C. MEETING

A program consisting of talks and a vocal solo followed the business meeting of the U. D. C. held Friday afternon at the home of Mrs. W. H. Keller.

Mrs. Moore Greer, the leader, reported outstanding events of a district meeting which she attended Thursday in Farmington with Mesdames J. L. Tanner, T. F. Henry, Charles Lindley and Kate Greer. She also told of the pleasing and satisfactory response which the national organization of the U. D. C. received when officials requested persons associated with schools and civic associations to use the term "war between the States" instead of Civil War.

Mrs. Josephine Veith discussed an article, "Federals Carry Misery and Havoc to Clarkville", which appeared recently in the Sunday magazine section of the Memphis Commercial Appeal, and Mrs. J. W. Crowley talked on "The Story of a Hero and How His Daring Terrorized an Army".

After Mrs. Frank Van Horne had read Joyce Kilmer's "Trees", Mrs. Moore Greer sang "My Mother's Arms".

Before they adjourned, members of the group discussed a proposed triu to Higginsville June 4 for a visit to the Confederate Home for veterans and aged women before they adjourned.

Mrs. Veith was hostess to the women.

Two Useful Fruits

EVERBODY likes grapefruit, and everybody likes pineapple, but have you ever thought of combining these two useful fruits in recipes which should thus be doubly appealing to the palate? If you haven't, here are some which will show you how to do it.

Pineapple and Grapefruit Shortcake*: Boil three-fourths cup canned pineapple syrup, three-fourths cup canned grapefruit syrup and two tablespoons sugar five minutes. Cool, add two cups diced canned pineapple and two cups canned grapefruit sections and serve on hot, rich baking powder biscuits, split and buttered. This makes enough for eight.

A Combination Salad

Pineapple and Grapefruit Salad with Cheese Dressing*: Drain the contents of two 8-ounce cans of Hawaiian pineapple tidbits (or one and one-half cups diced sliced pineapple), and toss lightly with one cup canned grapefruit sections, one cup orange sections and one-half cup halved, seeded grapes. Pile in lettuce leaves and pour over the following cheese dressing. Serves eight.

Cheese Dressing*: Shake together in six tablespoons salad oil, one tablespoon lemon juice, one tablespoon pineapple syrup, and salt and paprika to taste. Smooth, slowly into four tablespoons crumbled Roquefort cheese, and add two tablespoons chopped pimiento.

A Cocktail for March 17

Emerald Isle Cocktail*: Combine the syrup from a No. 2 can of Hawaiian sliced pineapple and a No. 2 can of grapefruit, sweeten slightly, if desired with confectioner's sugar, add one-half teaspoon almond flavoring, and tint a delicate green with vegetable coloring. Cut the pineapple slices in quarters, and distribute with the grapefruit sections among eight glasses. Pour over the syrup, and chill. Serves eight.

CHAFFEE FIELD TO BE DEDICATED WEDNESDAY

E. M. Munger and Mayor L. J. Heyman will speak at the formal dedication ceremonies Wednesday of the Harmon Field playground in Chaffee.

Other events on the program include a parade of school children, a flag-raising ceremony, selections by a male quartet of the 140th Infantry band and by the Chaffee Junior Band, and a baseball game between the DeLuxe Specials and the Chaffee high school teams. School children will also receive awards in athletics.

For the promise of 200 bushels of corn, a team of mules, a harnessed wagon, and 40 acres of land for rent, Elmer Driskill, 26-year-old farmer, killed Lum Mills, fisherman, on the floodway, thirteen miles northeast of Hayti, Saturday morning, he admitted to officers.

Driskill and William McPherson, also a farmer, whom the former accused of hiring him for the slaying, are in the Pemiscot County jail in Caruthersville and will face charges of murder.

At an inquest it was learned that two weeks ago Mills had allegedly found McPherson in his own home with his wife. It is said that he threatened McPherson's life and extorted money and a promise of a team of mules and a harnessed wagon from him.

Mills, 45 years old, is survived by his wife and three children.

POPPY MEMORIAL FLOWER OF AMERICAN LEGION

The red poppy was adopted as the memorial flower of the American Legion at the Legion's National Convention in Cleveland, O., in 1920. When the American Legion Auxiliary was organized the following year, the little red blossom became the Auxiliary's memorial flower. The poppy is also the memorial flower of the British Legion and is worn in all parts of the British Empire in tribute to the dead.

The memorial poppies which the American Legion Auxiliary will sell on "Poppy Day", May 26, will recall vivid pictures to the minds of Word War veterans who served overseas. The poppies blooming amid the waste and destruction of the battle front, and among the bare graves of the dead, left an unforgettable impression on the American soldiers.

When the American divisions drove forward in the great offensives of 1918, they entered a region torn, desolated and trampled by the most tremendous battles of history. Destruction and death were everywhere, but, amid it all, the little wild poppies bloomed. When machine guns and shell fire took their toll from the American ranks, the poppy was nature's floral offering on the graves of the dead.

To the A. E. F. those poppies seemed to symbolize the brave spirit of their fallen comrades and so it was made the memorial flower of the American Legion.

On Saturday, May 26, you will be asked to buy a poppy by the ladies of the Auxiliary. No one should refuse to make a small contribution and wear a red poppy in memory of those men who made the supreme sacrifice for our America.

The poppies are proper replicas of the flowers that grew on the battlefields. These have been made by crippled vetertans in the government hospitals. All money received for these poppies will be devoted to welfare work of the Legion and Auxiliary among the disabled veterans and the dependent families of veterans.

CARSON-RIGHTER ASK FOR MORE TERRITORY

A hearing on the application by the trucking firm of Carson and Righter for a certificate for convenience and necessity to operate a common carrier in approximately 150 Southeast Missouri towns in addition to those which the concern now has a permit to serve was held before two members of the Public Service Commission in the Marshall Hotel, Monday.

Carson and Righter trucks have previously been operating in some of the towns named in the application to deliver goods to persons and companies with whom they are contracted.

Members of the commission who were in Sikeston for the hearing were Caskie Collet, chairman, and William Stoecker. Wm. Carson and W. L. Righter were represented by Harry Blanton and M. E. Montgomery of Sikeston and June Rose of Jefferson City.

Among the counsels who represented concerns opposing the application were Byron Keabey, Poplar Bluff; Claud Arnold, Puxico; Ira Morris, Mayor of Malden; Fred A. Sheppard, Jackson; Herbert Hoff, Perryville and representative of the Frisco Railway. R. A. Bailey sat at the hearing in behalf of the Potashnick Truck Service.

PLAY CAST READY FOR PERFORMANCE

Members of the senior play cast began rehearsals Monday for their production of Myron C. Fagan's "Nancy's Private Affair", which they will present at 8:00 o'clock tonight (Tuesday) at the high school auditorium.

Lines have been learned, stage settings arranged, and all the separate acts combined into a well-balanced whole. The students in the play are said to be exceptionally well cast, and the play itself a clever comedy filed with light, gay chatter and repartee.

An advance announcement states that "Nancy is one of those smart, sophisticated society women who wants to win back her husband from a baby vamp. Laying aside her horn-rimmed spectacles, she pretends indifference and affects a mysterious interest in other men. Nancy baits her rival with a bogus diamond ring, makes love to her former husband's best friends, and finally tricks the dastardly rival into a marriage with someone else".

WHY are Laundry washed clothes cleaner

Clothes washed in the home in the old-fashioned tub or even the more modern washing machine go thru one process of washing. In the laundry mighty cascades of scientifically softened water do the work and there are from 7 to 10 separate changes of water applied to your family's wash. Can home washing equa this?

TIRES

In reconditioning your car for the spring and summer driving campaign, it is to be hoped that you did not stop with the engine, the brakes, the lights. Of course, these must be in perfect shape, but perhaps you overlooked a vital safety feature in every automobile—the tires.

While your brakes stop the wheels, it is the tires that stop the car. That fact is being emphasized in this day of high speed and increased horsepower. If you go fast, you must stop quickly. And that is where a good tire comes in.

Figures, obtained by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, indicate that three-fourths of the cars inspected in a number of States last year had dangerous defects. Nearly 48 per cent of these defective cars were equipped with tires that were either poor or only in fair condition. A poor, even a fair tire, is liable to a puncture or blowout, and everyone knows what that means at high speeds.

All drivers have noticed the abnormal number of blowouts and punctures during the first warm days. The heat has raised the air pressure and a worn tire has blown out or punctured on a sharp obstruction or severe bump. During the winter months the dampness has seeped in through the cuts and bruises produced by thousands of miles of driving. This dampness has decayed the rubber and weakened the tire.

There were 7120 accidents last year due to punctures or blowouts. In 480 of these accidents persons were killed and there were 27,160 skidding accidents in which 1420 persons were killed and 30,200 injured.

Look your tires over carefully, and if they are not up to standard replace them!

Guard Clothes From Moths

When the heavier winter suits, blankets and furs are put away at this season of spring housecleaning, it is important to remember that the so-called clothes moths must be guarded against says Leonard Haseman, chairman of the entomology department of the Missouri College of Agriculutre. These are particularly apt to cause damage to woolens and furs during the summer when these articles are stored away in trunks, dark closets, and other dark places.

All blankets, furs, woolen suits and other articles of wool or silk should be well sunned and brushed before being stored in mothproof bags, or in tight trunks or chests with a quantity of paradichlorobenzene crystals, camphor, or naphthalene flakes added.

Where moths and carpet beetles have been serious in the past, it is well to fumigate the stored woolens, allowing an ounce of carbon bisulphide to each six cubic feet of space in the trunk or chest. Fire must be kept away when fumigating with this material. A pound tion of paradichlorobenze, placed on the closet shelf, with the lid removed, will usually protect a closet of woolens from moth injury during the summer. This chemical can be secured from most any druggist.

Good Garden Seed Important

Good seed is perhaps the most important factor in the production of a profitable garden says T. J. Talbert of the Missouri College of Agriculture. A grower may have the best of soil, have all the tools and labor necessary for the highest production, and yet his efforts will be a failure if the seed used is inferior. Many growers fail entirely, or produce low yields, because they buy cheap seed. The best seed is always the cheapest regardless of price. It is a good practice to buy seed from firms which are well known and reljable.

MINNIE REPAYS OLD DEBT.

Courtney Ryley Cooper, famous circus writer, with Minnie the elephant and Rollo the pony.

For many years Courtney Ryley Cooper, famous author, has been writing stories and articles about circuses and circus animals In hundreds of these stories elephants play an important and highly creditable part.

Because of the favorable publicity these stories have given the elephant family, Minnie, the elephant shown above, recently consented to help out Mr. Cooper. Together with a collection of clowns, cowboys, Indians, band wagons, etc., Minnie marched up Broadway the other day as a member of the first circus parade New York witnessed in many years.

The purpose of the parade was to call attention to the first performance of "Circus Days," Courtney Ryley Cooper's new radio series. Thanks to Minnie and her fellow marchers throngs of New Yorkers learned of the new radio feature.

Responding to Mr. Cooper's thanks for the part she played, Minnie modestly trumpeted "An elephant never forgets."

SAAD DAYS ARE HERE

Though the old adage, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away", still holds good there's another one that should be added, "A leafy green vegetable a day adds zest to living". It really does more than that, for besides stimulating the appetite, it protects the health. Vitamin C is hidden in most green vegetables and it loses its potency when cooked. So, the very best way to serve such vegetables is in salads.

Salads, you know, have grown up in importance since the days when they were served an as interlude between the main course and dessert. Now they are appetizers, desserts, or whole meals in themselves, besides being tempting interludes. A salad bowl of crisp lettuce, rosy ripe tomatoes, paper-thin slices of cucumber, a sprinkling of fine diced green pepper and just a suspicoin of minced onion tossed lightly together with French dressing makes a most tempting and satisfying luncheon, when served with tea and thin brown bread sandwiches. A fruit salad is an ideal dessert after a dinner. And as an appetizer, thin slices of radishes, a stalk or two of asparagus and thin slivers of cucumber in a lettuce cup will tempt the most reluctant appetite.

Besides being just about the easiest thing to make that we know about, salads offer the homemanager an unsurpassed outlet for her culinary ingenuity. Salads bring color and beauty to the meal, and clever hostesses can paint beautiful pictures with almost anything from the beans and cauliflower left over from Tuesday's dinner to an avocado pear, provided she uses a background of crisp letuce, tender endive or water cress and adds a dash of piquant dressing.

Meat and Macaroni Salad

NUNN SAYS SUBSOIL MOISTURE NEEDED

"Subsoil moisture continues very deficient in all sections", according to Roscoe Nunn in his weekly report issued from the St. Louis weather bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture.

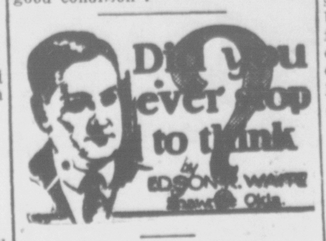

"So far in May, the Mississippi River at St. Louis is registering the same very low stages that occurred in May, 1931. Average rainfall for the State, since January 1, is 65 per cent of normal; since April 1, 59 per cent".

The weather was warm for so early in the season, Mr. Nunn says, but the high temperatures were favorable, especially where there was a sufficiency of moisture. The most rain fell in the northern half and in the lower southeastern district. In a large central-eastern area there was no rainfall of importance, and crops barely held their own.

"Wheat made poor to very good progress, in accordance with the moisture situation", Mr. Nunn said. A great part of it is backward and some is being hurt by aphis, as well as chinch bugs, which are already threatening in central districts. A heavy infestation is reported, and oats are suffering from them, too.

"Corn planting is well advanced, finished in many localities, and some corn is up to good stands. In other places it has been too dry for good germination".

Generally, oats made only fair progress, since rain is needed in most sections. "Alfalfa, pastures and garden truck made good growth where good rains occurred, but only poor to fair in the dry sections. Fruits and berries, for the most part, are reported in good condition".

E. J. Stackpole, editor-in-chief of the Harrisburg (Pa.) Telegraph, says:

"Long since the value of advertising was recognized in commercial and business circles as a necessary asset of modern business practice. On a certain occasion I had a talk with the late John Wanamaker, whose firm has spent millions of dollars in advertising and tried to elicit a statement from him as to how he proved the advertising of his outstanding firm.

" 'Well', he said, 'we make no effort to check up on any particular advertisement or series of advertisements. We have discovered, however, that when we cease advertising or limit it too much the results are at once apparent in our sales. We believe that the newspaper is highly valuable as an incentive to purchasing the various commodities and when it is dropped for alleged economic reasons the effects are immediately noticeable in our stores'.

"There could be no higher testimony to the value of advertising than this of the great Merchant Prince who knew the game from the bottom up.

"Emerging from an uparalleled economic depression which has had some influence upon advertising, I am persuaded that the use of newspaper space by merchants and others will contribute largely to a return to normal conditions of prosperity and business activity. Already in our own newspapers we find a disposition to return to those practices which have already been accepted as consistent with good business.

"Another thing which might be mentioned is the necessity for consistent advertising, avoiding sporadic bursts of special sales which do not greatly impress the shopper. What we need in the United States today is return of faith in the country and in each other, and this can be acomplished through intelligent adveritsing programs".

CHARLESTON STUDY CLUB HOSTESS TO SIKESTON WOMAN'S CLUB THURSDAY

A very pretty tea at the home of Mrs. P. A. Kasey Thursday afternoon was enjoyed by the Sikeston Woman's Club.

Mrs. C. L. Joslyn, president of the Charleston Club, opened the meeting with a very beautiful prayer.

Mrs. C. C. White, program chairman of the Sikeston Club, introduced Mrs. Bert Rowe and Miss Mills of Malden and Mrs. Orear of Sikeston.

Mrs. Rowe gave a splendid review of the drama "Green Pastures" by M. Connelly, with Mrs. Orear and Miss Mills singing the negro spirituals throughout the rendition of the play.

At the close of the program, a lovely tea was enjoyed.

The following Sikeston ladies were guests of the Charleston Club: Mesdames Ray Burns, C. C. White, C. A. Cook, Calvin Greer, L. O. Rodes, T. F. Henry, J. L. Tanner, F. D. Lair, Jack Anderson, A. B. Hunter, Arthur Reese, G. A. Dempster, J. W. Foley, G. E. Daniels, E. H. Orear, Robert Noland and C. L. Blanton, Sr.

Paper money has performed an important part in the history of these United States. Adopted as a matter of necessity, and not from choice, by the Massachuetts Bay Colony, in 1690, it was gradually issued by other colonies until in general use by all. It was the original intention of the Colonies to have it equal current coin, but depreciation took place, followed by succeeding issues of paper money until it became practically worthless.

your Foot Size has a Number
your LEG SIZE has a NAME!

All three wear size 9½. Three women... small, medium and tall . . . often take the same foot size stockings. But they should have different leg sizes, both in width and length. Do not misunderstand. belle-sharmeer does not offer one stocking that stretches to fit all legs. belle-sharmeer stockings are made in all leg sizes . . as well as foot sizes from 8 to 11.

Ask for your foot size by number and your leg size by name

- brev if you're small
- modite if you're medium
- duchess if you're tall
- classic if you're stout

Don't buy your stockings just to fit your foot alone. It is even more important to fit your leg.

That's why our beautiful belle-sharmeer stockings are worn by the smartest women in town. There are four personal proportions, for small, tall, medium or plump women . . . "made to measure" for every type of leg . . . in width and length as well as foot size.

Learn the name of your leg size. (We're here to tell you.) Then you can always be sure of getting perfect fitting stockings. And, of course, they'll live longer because they fit better. No garter strain. No seam sliding. And the heel will not slip down into the shoe.

Every lovely new color is here, in street, afternoon and evening weights. And they're exclusive with us.
